

Creatively unique gifts: Hand Lettering Set starter kit

Beautiful things that come from the heart also deserve an equally special presentation – like unusual wrapping. The icing on the cake, however, are handwritten greeting cards and self-designed tags, because those are what lend gifts that personal touch. Hand lettering is the perfect way to create these personal messages, because even somebody with little experience in fancy lettering can still create true works of art in no time at all.

The new 12-piece Faber-Castell set offers everything lettering fans and creative beginners need to take their first steps: The pencil is intended for creating first drafts. We then recommend using flexible felt-tipped Pitt Artist Pens in a variety of colours to fill in the sketched-in areas and curves. Two fineliners in several line widths are included for outlines and fine details, while shimmering Metallics markers provide the finishing touches. For those who want to get started right away – no problem, because the set also includes a selection of cards in various colours and templates for gift tags. Anybody still lacking a bit of inspiration can refer to the enclosed instructions for creative tips and ideas on how to get started.
